

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method, system and device for audio input/output to a computer using a regular telephone. Analog data transfer between the telephone and the computer is facilitated by an adapter that does not perform A/D conversion. The adapter is switchable between operating states and modes.